

Public Lecture

Climate Policy After Paris:

How the U.S. and 190 other countries can save the world

Billy Pizer

Professor of Environmental Sciences and Policy
Sanford School of Public Policy and Department of Economics
Duke University

- Fellow, Nicholas Institute for Environmental Policy
- Senior Economist, President's Council of Economic Advisors
- University Fellow, Resources for the Future
- Non-Resident Fellow, Center for Global Development
- Deputy Assistant Secretary for Environment and Energy, Treasury Department
- Senior Economist, National Commission on Energy Policy
- Climate Change Taskforce, Council on Foreign Relations
- Lead Author for the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC)

114 Belk Library
Thursday, November 3rd
5:00pm

CENTER FOR
ECONOMIC RESEARCH
& POLICY ANALYSIS

Department of Economics

Research Institute for Environment, Energy & Economics